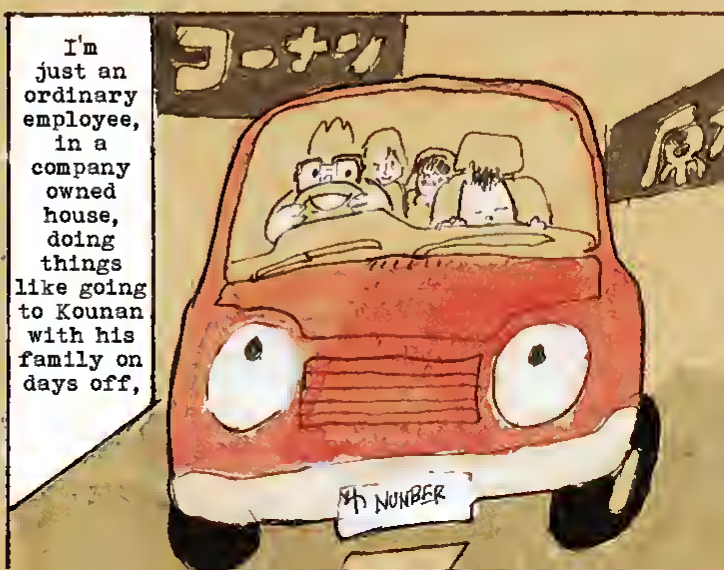
I paint the colours in the morning at home.
RAPID COMMUTER UNDERGROUND

Let me just state that this manga I'm drawing is entirely fictional.

IT'S ALL FICTION.
and how I go to work in a suit every day,
my two precious children,
My beautiful wife,

But my wife really is very beautiful.



I'm just an ordinary employee, in a company owned house, doing things like going to Kounan with his family on days off, コーナン
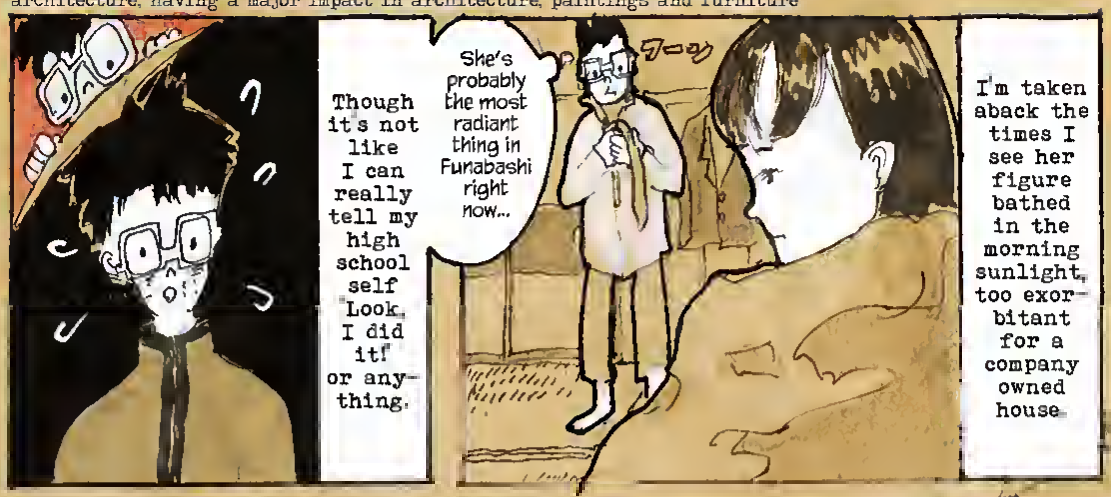
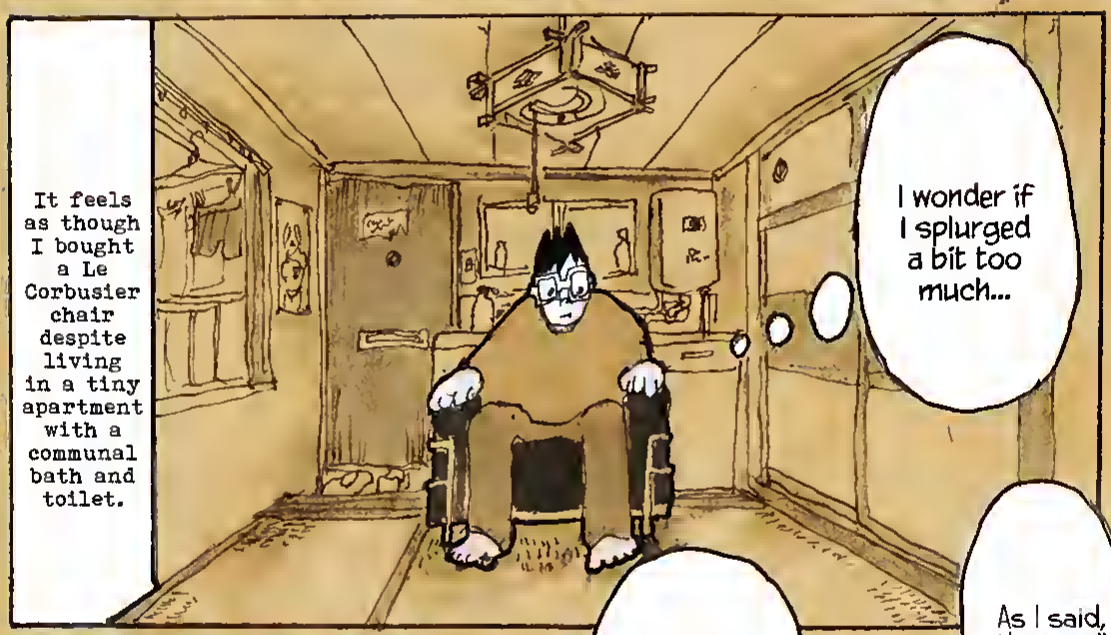
NUMBER

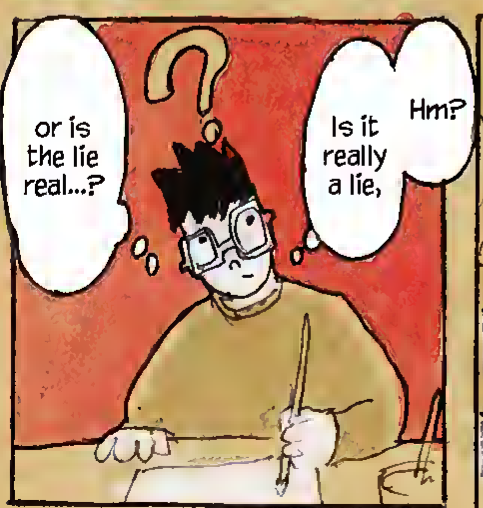
•Le Corbusier (1887-1965) was considered one of the three masters of modern architecture, having a major impact in architecture, paintings and furniture

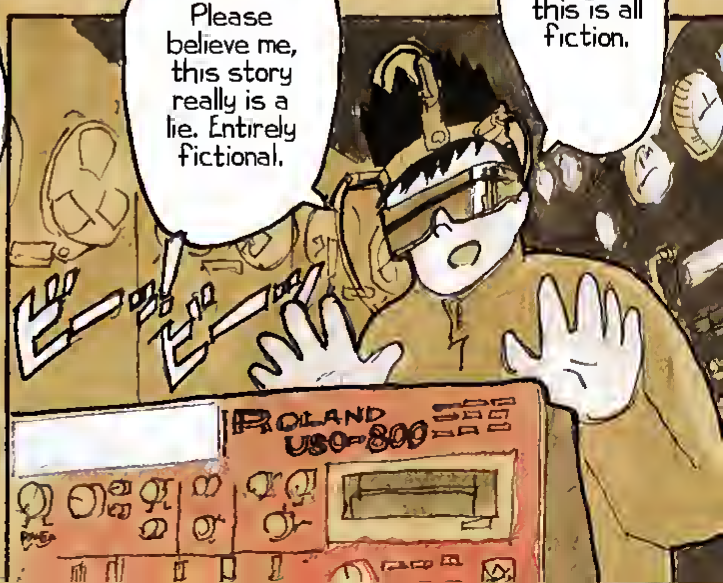


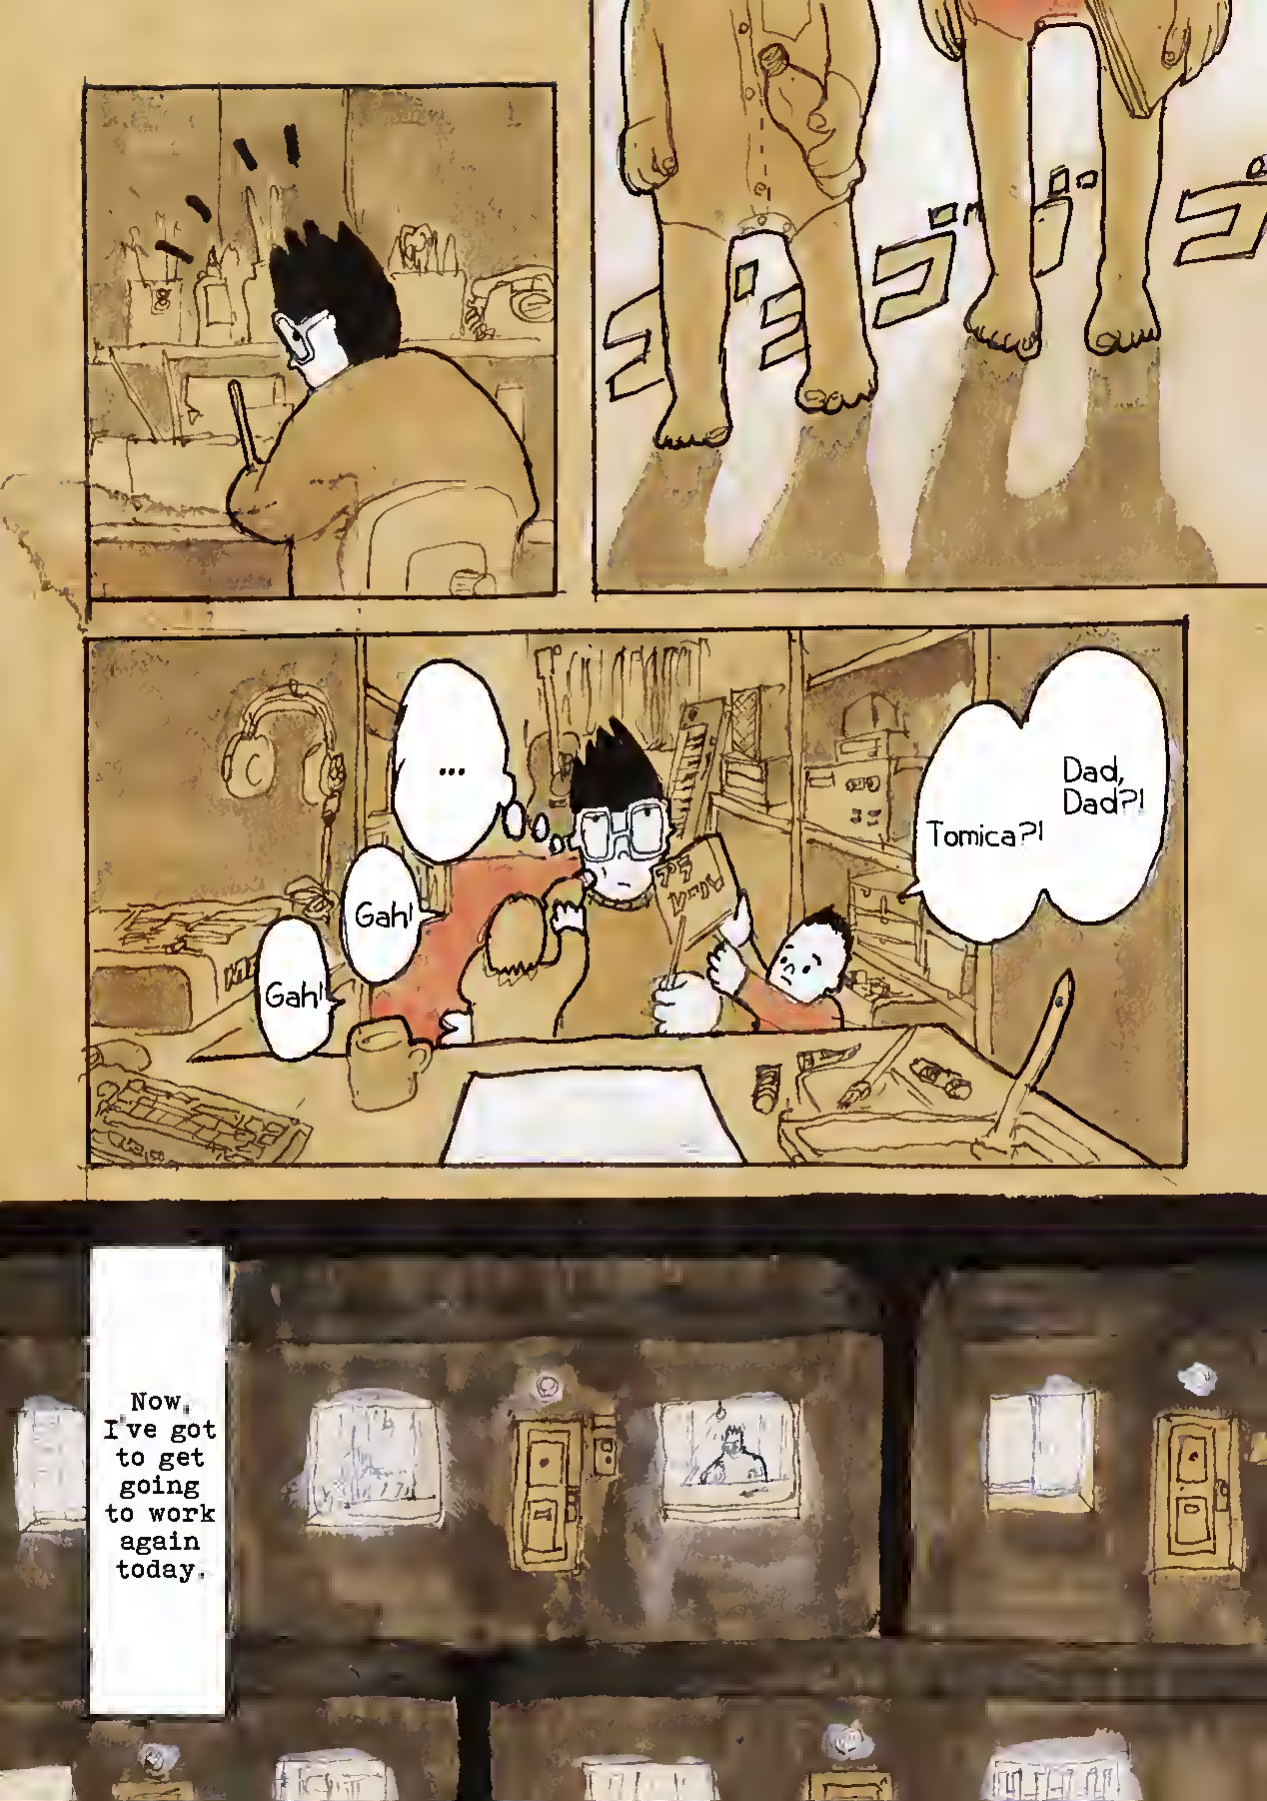
Though it's not like I can really tell my high school self "Look, I did it!" or anything.
She's probably the most radiant thing in Funabashi right now...
I'm taken aback the times I see her figure bathed in the morning sunlight, too exorbitant for a company owned house.



It feels as though I bought a Le Corbusier chair despite living in a tiny apartment with a communal bath and toilet.
I wonder if I splurged a bit too much...







...
Gah!
Gah!
Dad, Dad?!
Tomica?!
Now, I've got to get going to work again today.